Tom Parenteau of Vermilion, who won the tournament in 1990 and was a flight winner in 1987, made the hole in one on the 159-yard, par-3 Hole #6 during his second round of golf on Saturday to win a quad and trailer.

Parenteau went on to win the Championship Flight of the tourney, with 1998 champion Ken Bozniak second, Darren Crapley third and Dennis Carmichael fourth. The Championship Flight was sponsored by Weatherford Artificial Lift Systems (Corod).

A total of 120 golfers participated in the weekend of fun and fellowship.

Local golfer Tyson Stafford won the First Flight honors, with Troy Lorensen second, Rob Dammann third and Harold Sperling fourth in the event sponsored by Weatherford PC Pump Ltd (BMW Pump).

F.G. Miller High is making the grade in Elk Point

Parents, teachers and students working together on positive changes

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

The F.G. Miller High School in Elk Point is showing off its latest report card in hopes of calming parents' fears.

During last week's school board meeting, Trustee Ray Danyluk raised the concern that some parents might not register their kids in the regional school district this fall.

As a result, a full discussion broke out about how more schools should publicize their improvements and successes.

F.G. Miller Principal Jim

Hawkins is now cheering for his school, and he has a reason to.

Back in 1997, the school's overall diploma results did not fare so well, coming in at 54 per cent.

"We started to pick up our socks and the results came through in 1998 with an overall average of 60.1 per cent," said Hawkins.

The most recent results for 1999 show a continued improvement with an average of 61.2 per cent on the diploma exam results — right around the provincial average.

"What we're seeing is a real positive change in the school," Hawkins added. "The students are more dedicated to their work."

However, Hawkins said there are some students who might bring the averages down and this is what has some parents concerned.

F.G. Miller is keeping these concerns in check by utilizing a new improvement plan each year.

"Parents, board members, students and teachers are taking a team approach to improving the marks at the schools,"

Hawkins adds the students are especially making an effort, after all, they are the ones who are getting the grades.

This year's strategy for the improvement plan at F.G. Miller includes two major elements — an English literacy course and a new discipline policy.

"We are now offering an English literacy course opposite to the regular French course so that students can improve their literacy skills at their own level."

For instance, if the student already excels in English, this course could offer them a chance to improve even more.

On the other hand, if the student needs to work on his/her literacy skills, this more individualized course will give the student the required assistance.

The second element to the school's plan includes a new discipline strategy that focusses on solving problems in the classroom.

"The committee of school councils helped to come up with some improvements that would see minor problems solved before they get to the office," said Hawkins.

"The number one job is for our students to do well academically."

Block Parent Program sees renewed interest

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

It has been many years since residents have seen "Block Parent" signs displayed in windows of some homes here in our town of Elk Point. At that time, our local Lioness Club sponsored the program with support from the RCMP.

Today, some interest has been expressed that there is a need for this program to once more be operating in Elk Point. If you are one of those people who are interested, please contact the FCSS office at 724-3800 and let us know.

As of May 31, 1999, the Provincial office of the Alberta Block Parent Association has moved to Westlock. We have been in contact with the office and they have mailed us the official Block Parent manual.

The aim of the Block Parent Program is to provide safety for all citizens, especially for the children. The program is a community program and is not a police program. It must be operated by volunteers who have a real concern and interest in their own community.

Our children are important to all of us. To see a child being lost, bullied or harassed, or one who is ill or injured, or locked out of his or her house because he or she lost the house keys, or is approached by a stranger, or any other number of incidents, if there is a block parent close by, the child will be able to go to a safe place for help. Or, if the person is an older person, like a senior, the Block Parent program could also help them for the same reasons.

It is easy to assume our local community of Elk Point is too small for any kind of problems. But, with new families who have moved here, our town has become a place where we don't know everyone. Therefore, it can be understood that sometimes, yes sometimes, there are problems where our children or our seniors need a safe place to go for help.

Therefore, at this stage, the FCSS office would like to inquire as to the interest in our community. We need to know if there are people who are willing to become Block Parents and we need to know if there is anyone who would be interested in being on a committee to establish this community program. Our local FCSS office will assist.

Remember, for 25 years, the Block Parent Program has been working effectively and efficiently in communities across the country: to protect children, to make your neighborhood safer and to protect all members of the community. Block Parent homes offer refuge and assistance to anyone, young or old... So, please let the FCSS office know if you are interested in becoming involved in this program. Call 724-3800.

■ Summertime fun

Summer readers tour the Forts

By Carlen Mutch

Summer Reading Program Coordinator

Last week held fun times of buffalo and water guns at the Summer Reading Program. But before I get into all the exciting details, I have some information that I need to pass along. My job this summer was funded in part by the Department of Canadian Heritage, which helps to create summer employment for young Canadians. I am employed under the Young Canada Works in heritage institutions, which is part of Canada's Youth Employment Strategy. This program aims to create employment and work experience for Canadian youth between the ages of 16 and 30. If you would like more information on Young Canada Works, you can go to their website, <http://www.pch.gc.ca/ycw-jct/>

Now, back to the program. On Wednesday the older group made the voyage out to Fort George and Buckingham House. There we met with Melissa, who took us on a tour of the interpretive centre and even let us try out some native games. We even got to watch a few videos, with Melissa impressing me with her memorization of them all. Then we made the trek out to the fort sites, bearing the really hot, dry weather. The kids were extremely happy with the water pump at the end of the trail. They even suggested that a few more pumps should be installed along the way. After the kids had their drinks, they played nature bingo that ended with us sitting back in the nice, air-conditioned interpretive centre. Then Melissa suggested that we play hide and seek inside the gallery, since no one else was there. The kids had a lot of fun squeezing into tiny spots and hiding under furs. Thanks a lot to Melissa for being a wonderful guide.

On Thursday the younger kids finally had their water day. Again I was yelled at, but this time that it was too cold, and last week had been perfect. Once they got out there and started to run around I'm sure they were plenty warm. After the kids left, I was faced with my biggest challenge: cleaning up. As luck would have it, my brother was hanging around the library waiting for me to get off work so I could drive him home. He was quickly assigned to clean up duty.

This week we will be having our summer reading program wind-up. It will be held on Wednesday evening for both groups and will be starting at 7:00 p.m. We will be having games, stories, a movie and lots of prizes, so I hope to see everyone there.

Answer to last week's trivia question: "Aloha," the Hawaiian word for hello also means goodbye.

■ Special Report

Community Choir tour continues

By Shirley Osinchuk

Elk Point Community Choir

Wednesday, August 11: Time to leave The Island. We were enjoying a CD that Shelby Mueller won in a contest in Charlottetown. The challenge had been to finish the rhyme, "If fish could fly and sheep could dance..." and Shelby did, with "I'd use my pogo stick and jump to France."

First stop was a photo op before the Confederation Bridge, then at the Interpretive Centre. It takes ten minutes to drive from Prince Edward Island to New Brunswick, 9.7 miles across the Northumberland Strait. Lobster boats were out checking the catch. The second lobster season of the year had opened on Monday and the water was dotted with floats of different colors marking the traps.

Mid-afternoon, at the Magnetic Hill, our bus was in line behind two cars and a tour bus. We watched each one stop at the bottom, shift into neutral and coast back UP the hill. Hard to believe, but the same thing happened to our bus, with the engine turned off!

Thursday, August 12: We were to be the musical entertainment half an hour before the Tidal Bore was expected at Tidal Bore Park in Moncton. The Bay of Fundy has the highest tides in the world and the effect of it being forced into the funnel shape of the mouth of the Peticodiac River which flows through Moncton, causes one large wave to roll upstream, against the flow of the river.

The weather went from cool and windy to rainy and our performance was cancelled but we were invited to City Hall, just down the street for a hot drink. There we had a choice at the Tim Horton's in the lobby. (A Moncton resident had told me earlier that there was a Tim Horton's "on every corner," and they call themselves the Tim Horton's capital of Canada.)

Before leaving, we sang there in the lobby of City Hall, then walked back and stood in the rain to watch the Bore. It was twenty minutes "late" and we were soaked to the skin. The Bore varies from a few inches to several feet in height and unfortunately for us, we saw one of the "few inches" variety.

The afternoon plans took us south, back to Nova Scotia and a tour of the mine at Springhill, closed now since 1958. Our guide was Stan, a retired miner who had been there during the explosion in 1956, and the "bump" in 1958 which killed 75 men. Our male quartet sang "Sixteen Tons" while dressed in miners' helmets and yellow slickers.

Another attraction there is the Anne Murray Centre. It would have been nice if she had dropped in as we were singing in the lobby.

Friday, August 13: South along the Peticodiac River to the Hopewell Rocks, another natural wonder, sculpted by the ocean and the Bay of Fundy. At low tide we could walk down (many steps) to the beach and look up at the Flowerpot Rocks, with trees and grass growing on top, that become islands when the tide comes in.

It was cloudy, but the sky cleared as we turned north through the Caledonia Highlands of Fundy National Park, climbing to an altitude of 366 M. Then down again and on to St. John.

We were on time for our 2:30 "date" with Loyalist Justin Barry, who was actually our guide for an interesting city tour, with lots of historic detail. St. John was the first incorporated city in Canada, in 1785.

There were photo stops at the Reversing Falls, where the cormorants flock to feed as the incoming tide covers the falls and reverses the water flow; at the Martello Tower on the highest point of land above St. John, built for the war of 1812; and where the oldest exposed rock in the world has been discovered.

The Old City Market was a favorite spot for many of us, and we hardly paid attention to the high ceiling shaped like an inverted ship's hull.

Saturday, August 14: Windy, wet, foggy day. The 1:00 p.m. concert, outdoors at King's Square, was cancelled but the 3:00 p.m. in the pleasant, modern Brunswick Square was still on. A large audience had gathered and we enjoyed our last concert of the tour.

Sunday, August 15: We left the hotel, past the reversing falls and west along the coast to St. Andrews, right to the border with Maine. All aboard the Island Link, a five week old boat, for whale watching on the Bay of Fundy. It was a wonderful experience: cow and calf fin-back whales quite close to the boat, a minke whale in the distance; cormorants, herring gulls, bald eagles, gannets; harbour seals and porpoise! Our captain and the marine biologist aboard also explained the herring weirs and the salmon sea cages. Rain closed in on us as we were returning, but no one minded, as we were served hot chocolate and hors d'oeuvres of herring paté and smoked salmon.

That evening we had a (delicious) farewell dinner in The Top of the Town on the eighth floor of our hotel. Don Bury composed and sang a song about the whole trip, with emphasis on the funny incidents that will become our "in-jokes." Don Conrad presented the Golden Thong Awards. Ask some tour member about that. Our driver, Graham Fralic, and our tour guide Eliane Delette had become very much a part of the group. They are now lifetime members of the Elk Point Community Choir.

Monday, August 16: Take-off from St. John Airport for Toronto and Edmonton. Goodbye to Graham at St. John, then to Eliane at Toronto. It was also hard to say goodbye to Jill Hartley who had joined us in Toronto and had been singing all the way. She now lives in Caledonia, Ontario.

Luciak's bus was waiting at the Edmonton Airport and by 9:00 p.m., everyone was back home.

It was another great experience. Just ask any one of the group, but be sure you have an hour or two to spare!

(Our apologies to Shirley Osinchuk, who also wrote last week's part of the tour coverage, which we had attributed to Don Conrad. - Editor)

Jamboree to wind up summer at the Forts

The Forts des Prairies Jamboree is coming to Fort George and Buckingham House this Sunday, and will wind up another busy summer at the provincial historic site.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Summer has whizzed by — Summer Reading winding up

By Karina Mitchell
Librarian

Another summer has gone whizzing by and another Summer Reading Program is almost over. I'll miss the pitter-patter of all those little feet in the Library. Actually, most days it was a lot more than pitter-patter in the Library. I'll especially miss having Carlen here. I really appreciated the extra set of hands around the Library. It has been great working with you again. this summer, Carlen!

But rather than look at this as a sad ending, we at the Library choose to see it as another excuse for a party! And you are all invited. Bring the whole family down on Wednesday, August 25 for our wind-up party. There is only one week of summer holidays left and you don't want to miss out on a good evening of fun while you still can. Like I said, all are welcome — the more the merrier!
